seeing red

It's great to see celebrities' doing something for a good cause and New York Fashion Week is no exception with stars going red for heart health.

The Heart Truth fall 2014 collection had everyone from actors and singers to athletes wearing red to support the fight against heart disease.

Victoria Justice looked stunning in an off the shoulder Oscar de la Renta gown while Kat Graham rocked a leather mini skirt and top combo by Mathieu Mirano. Bella Thorne and AnnaSophia Robb also walked the runway in Badgley Mischka and alice + olivia by Stacey Bendet respectively.
